Decision Quality: Tools and Techniques

Presenter: Fadi Najdi, MBA, MSc. CPA, CMA, project manager at ABB Canada, in charge of Capital Projects in the Transmission and Distribution sector; he has experience in manufacturing & Management Consulting.

It has been proved that humans are not wired to make consistently rational decisions. Biases and a lack of methodical approach sometimes hinder optimal decisions. Practical tools and a systemic approach can be used towards an improved decision quality. This approach has been adopted in many large companies like Chevron, Conoco and Worley Parsons. This presentation discusses the six main elements that shall be considered in decision making, along with an overview of the related tools and techniques; the presentation will be in English.

Program Management

Presenters: Richard Jaeger, Architect, MBA, program manager control buildings of TransEnergie in HQE and team leader, divisional innovation committee; he has many years of experience as an architect and in project management in different industries.

Noureddine Mouncef, PHD in BA, engineer by training, works in project controls at HQE, has more than 20 years of experience in management, project controls & contract administration.

HQESP-SEBJ manages its projects through a combination of project and program management, with each project having their specific structure, targets and responsibilities, under the supervision of a common functional management.

Program management is defined as a group of projects managed in coordination to obtain certain synergies and benefits, which would otherwise not be possible to achieve. Speakers will present the justifications behind adopting program management, and explain how it works; they will share some of their experiences of the program management in HQE; this presentation will be done in French.
